Yosuke Onuma

Born in Akita, Japan. He started playing guitar at the age of 14, and won first prize at the Gibson Jazz Guitar Contest in 1999. He made his debut with SONY MUSIC in 2001, a label with whom he has worked for 10 years. He has released 10 albums on SONY and other labels. In 2004, he recorded the trio album "Three Primary Colors" in New York featuring Richard Bona on base and Ari Hoenig on drums. In 2010, he released "Jam Ka," which he recorded with French Caribbean musicians. The album features the Gwo Ka drum, used in the folk music of Guadeloupe. In 2016, he founded Flyway LABEL. The first release on this label was "Jam Ka Deux" recorded in Paris, a sequel to "Jam Ka." This work led to appearances at jazz clubs in Paris and Munich, as well as at the Martinique Jazz Festival. In 2019, he released the album "Jam Ka 2.5", which includes studio sessions concluded right after the Jam Ka Deux tour in 2017. He performed at the "Festival Eritaj" in Guadeloupe, the home town of Gwo Ka. Onuma is a guitarist who continues to create music based on jazz that connects the world through sound, incorporating into his music the influences and experiences he has gained from traveling to various countries. He plays acoustic guitar as well as electric guitar. His first solo guitar work "Your Smile" was released on September 20th, 2023. www.YosukeOnuma.com

Lisa Ono

Born in Sao Paulo, Brazil. She lived in Brazil until the age of 10. She started playing the guitar at 15 and made her album debut in 1989. With her natural singing voice, rhythmic guitar and charming smile, she quickly spread bossa nova throughout Japan. She has performed with renowned artists such as bossa nova legend Antonio Carlos Jobim and jazz samba master João Donato; she has also performed actively in New York and other Asian countries, receiving high acclaim overseas as well. In 1999, her album "Dream" was a hit, selling over 200,000 copies. She has won the Japan Gold Disc Award in the Jazz Category four times. In 2013, she was awarded the "Order of Rio Branco" by the Brazilian government, and has steadfastly maintained her position as the leading bossa nova performer in Japan.

Japan Philharmonic Orchestra (JPO)

Founded in June 1956, the orchestra was originally led by Akeo Watanabe, its first permanent conductor and a central player in the orchestra's founding. Today, the orchestra is focused on three core activities: Orchestra concerts, regional activities and educational programs. Orchestra concerts designed to promote culture through music are held under the direction of a well-rounded lineup of conductors, including Chief Conductor Kahchun Wong, Conductor Laureate Alexander Lazarev, Honorary Conductor Laureate Ken-ichiro Kobayashi, and Friend of the JPO/Artistic Advisor Junichi Hirokami. Since the Great East Japan Earthquake in 2011, the Music for Disaster Areas program has been held more than 300 times, and in 2022 the orchestra was awarded the 16th Shinpei Goto Prize for its highly acclaimed activities. JPO also holds concerts for various local communities under the motto "for all people, all generations, all regions, all over the world," including outdoor concerts at venues such as ARK Hills and Toranomom Hills. This time, they will perform as the Japan Philharmonic Orchestra brass quintet, taking advantage of their extensive experience.
