Popular free shuttle bus service between Roppongi Hills and The National Art Center, Tokyo returns for a limited time during the summer holidays

Creating developments that aim at community vitalization through cultural offerings, Mori Building Co., Ltd. (headquarters: Minato-ku, Tokyo; President and CEO: Minoru Mori) provided free shuttle bus service between Roppongi Hills and The National Art Center, Tokyo on Saturdays and Sundays in the spring of this year as part of its area management activities. Mori Building will again collaborate with the Center to provide this service for a limited time during the summer holidays.

Every day during the summer holidays (7/28~8/26, except Tuesdays), the shuttle bus service will link Roppongi Hills - the venue for the "Le Corbusier: Art and Architecture-A Life of Creativity" at Mori Art Museum and a host of other events including the "Sky Aquarium with Perrier Café", "Latin Summer" and "Hills Café/Space, and The National Art Center, Tokyo - the largest exhibition space in Japan, presenting a rich diversity of exhibitions with a focus on contemporary art, making it easier for visitors to enjoy both of these culture hot spots. The shuttle bus adds the dimension of even more convenient transportation to explore the Roppongi area, which is attracting even more attention with the recent opening of Tokyo Midtown.

Shuttle bus bodies will be vividly decorated with images of the Le Corbusier exhibition (left) and Sky Aquarium with Perrier Café (right).
